

EMERGENCY MEDICAL TECHNICIAN TRAINING COURSE

Duration: 5 Days

IRHC Accredited. This course is accepted by IHCD as an instructor's certificate for personnel who wish to instruct on the IHCD FPOS Basic & Intermediate course. This course is valid for a period of 2 years.

This course provides increased knowledge and skills in the assessment and management of medical and trauma emergencies in the pre-hospital environment, using techniques and equipment beyond the scope of basic first aid. It is suitable for any person who may have to patients in the pre-hospital care role, in particular - emergency medical service and rescue personnel, on-site company ambulance staff and first aiders who wish to extend their basic skills.

All applicants should be able to show evidence of first aid training undertaken (First Aid at Work or an equivalent standard), and held for a minimum of 1 year.

SUBJECTS INCLUDE:

Basics of mechanism of injury

Airway management

Oxygen and Entonox administration

Primary & secondary patient assessment

Angina & myocardial infarction

Cardiogenic & hypovolaemic shock

AED protocols

Head & spinal trauma

Triage systems

IV fluids

Course cost £550 (Exc. VAT)

+44 (0) 870 979 9000
info@lifesignsgroup.co.uk
www.medicallifesigns.co.uk